TWELVE HOUR DAY IN THE STEEL MILLS UNDER DISPUTE

ARY PLEDGES ABOLISHMENT 12 HOUR DAY MOVE IS HOAX

He Never Favored Long Working Day, But Declares Foreigners Want It Because It Means A Bigger Pay Envelope

NEW YORK, July 6.—Verification of the steel industry's pledge to abolish the 12-hour day, as given by President Harding, was made by the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation here today.

Just when the 12-hour day will be abolished I cannot say," Judge J. J. Gary said. "He said the future of the action would depend upon the situation."

The abolition of the 12-hour day will mean an increase of 15 cent in the cost of production," Gary said. "If labor conditions continue to improve as rapidly in the future as they have in the past few months, then the 12-hour day will be a thing of the past."

"I personally have never been in favor of the 12-hour day. The corporation is determined to do it and co-operate with President Harding in every way."

The abolition of the 12-hour day will be made just as quickly as possible."

We shall have some difficulty making adjustments which will satisfy large numbers of our workmen," Judge Gary said. "Many of them, particularly those of the foreign element, desire to work long hours because it means a larger pay envelope."

Progress towards abolishing the 12-hour day within the last 14 months has been rapid and it is believed that the end will be attained in a comparatively short time."

He said that the increase in the number of workmen which now is apparent continues," Gary added.

Gary revealed that the directors of the American Iron and Steel Institute have been called into session to discuss the abolition of the 12-hour day. This action was taken, Gary said, after receipt of President Harding's letter of June 19.

Gary said in abolishing the 12-hour day, the United States Steel corporation was recognizing and endorsing public sentiment.

"This," Gary said, "is not only opinion but the opinion of the industry."

Affects 200,000 Men. He said 200,000 men would be affected by the change when it is completed.

"Some of the companies have attempted to abolish the 12-hour day during recent months. Many have been forced back, however, to the increased demand for production."

STEEL HOT MILL WORKERS GIVEN WAGE RAISE

NEW CASTLE, Pa., July 6.—A wage increase averaging ten percent has been given to all hot mill employees of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company, effective July 1, it became known here today.

Fifteen hundred workers in this city will benefit by the increase. The raise does not apply to any other class of employees. It is based on the selling price of tin plate provided for in an agreement between the company and its men.

15 BILLION IN LIBERTY BONDS STILL UNPAID

This Constitutes Two-Thirds of Whole Debt of the United States

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Nearly fifteen billion dollars worth of liberty bonds, bought during the war and still outstanding among investors, comprise the major part of the public debt of the United States, the treasury department said today.

The nation's gross debt today is $22,349,707,365.

Bonds now held by investors include those in the first, second, third and fourth liberty bond issues. The amount outstanding in each of these issues were tabulated by the treasury as follows:

First liberty bonds $1,951,765,200.
Second liberty bonds $3,199,056,650.
Third liberty bonds $3,407,800,400.
Fourth liberty bonds $6,328,632,050.

Other items in the country's public debt are made up as follows: Consols and miscellaneous bonds, $883,000,000; treasury notes, $763,000,000; treasury certificates, $4,104,000,000; treasury savings certificates, $336,551,000.

The treasury said that since August, 1919, the nation's war debt has been reduced more than $4,000,000,000. Then it stood $26,546,000,000.

Treasury officials said that since the government has established a balance between its receipts and expenditures and is now showing an annual surplus, liquidation of the public debt should be speedy in the future years.

The government's income this fiscal year may exceed its expenses by probably $500,000,000, according to expert calculations. President Harding promises to make further sweeping economies in departmental management and additional savings by eliminating waste in government purchasing.

DISTRICT TOO POOR FOR $200 RAISE, SO SCHOOL HEAD QUILTS

Labor Leader Says Whole Thing Is Tainted With Bluff and Insincerity — Favors Organization to 'Free Themselves From Slavery'

WASHINGTON, D. C. July 6.—While officials of the American Federation of Labor deprecated the progress claimed by President Harding in his campaign to eliminate the 12 hour work day in American industry, as revealed by his announcement before sailing for Alaska, the feeling prevailed in government circles today that the president had at least won a moral victory.

The promise of Judge E. H. Gary and other steel magnates to abolish the 12 hour day whenever employment would permit, was interpreted by officials of the department of commerce and labor as indicating an earnest desire on the part of the great steel interests to comply with Mr. Harding's request, though the actual accomplishment may be somewhat delayed.

Claim Labor Shortage. Labor shortage in the steel mills and the resulting recommendations of the manufacturers that the immigration law barriers be lowered to admit more workers has been the subject of recent cabinet discussions, but thus far the administration has set its face firmly against all proposals for the relaxation of the present drastic restrictions.

When the immigration question comes up in the next congress, however, it is expected that conditions in the steel industry will be pointed to as proof of the necessity of the importation of alien labor. The opposition of the administration, however, is unlikely that any radical revision of the immigration laws will be affected by the new congress unless there should be a change in the immigration policy of President Harding and Secretary of Labor Davis.

The trend just now is to make the restrictions more drastic rather than to make it easier for foreigners to get into this country.

Judge Gary's letter to President Harding was not at all pleasing to Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who thought the executive was unduly optimistic in his Tacoma announcement.

Gompers Hits Move. The plan of the steel interests to wait for a labor surplus to eliminate the 12 hour day, Gompers said, means that the reform can be brought about only during a period of general unemployment or by letting in more aliens. He charged that Gary's pledge to Mr. Harding was "propaganda" designed to influence congress and the administration to amend the immigration laws and declared that organization of the steel workers offered the only hope for the complete abolition of the 12 hour day.

Gompers issued a formal statement to advise steel workers not to expect too much as a result of the exchange of cordialities between the president and Judge Gary. The president suggested to Mr. Gary that the 12 hour day might be abolished "when there is a surplus of labor available," and Mr. Gary puts those words in quotation marks in his response and agrees with the grace and tact of a born diplomat that of course it shall be as the president wishes.

"When there is a surplus of labor available the judge doubtless thinks wages can be cut and he doubtless hopes this 'surplus' may be hastened by wide open immigration."

"Lies and Treachery." "The whole thing is tainted with bluff and insincerity. The steel trust will cater first to profits and it will not do anything that will even hold possibility of jeopardizing profits until driven to it by irresistible public opinion or the force of organization among the steel workers."

"The one sure way of ending the 12 hour day in the steel mills is for the steel workers, through organization, to refuse to remain slaves to the steel trust. The Gary 'when' letter is a travesty, and a particularly cruel one. That the president should consider it worth giving to the public as a serious promise is amazing."

In addition negotiations for the miners are urged to secure an agreement regarding the price of coal and rent to be charged employees.

Asked for a statement regarding the miners' demands, Lewis said:

MRS. STANNARD IS UPHELD BY EX-OFFICIALS

Former State Welfare Director Says Girls' Industrial Home Matron Is Very Competent

DELAWARE, O., July 6.—Submission of testimony by persons supporting Mrs. M. Stannard in her appeal for reinstatement, following her recent removal by state welfare director Harper as chief matron at the girls industrial school near here, will mark the hearings to be conducted today and Saturday by the state civil service commission at the school.

The hearing, it is expected, will be transferred to Columbus Monday. Although the prosecution practically rested its case last yesterday, it is understood that counsel for Director Harper will call a number of witnesses before the hearing is concluded at Columbus.

Dr. H. S. Macayal, Akron, former state welfare director, who took the stand last yesterday, was the first witness called on behalf of Mrs. Stannard. Dr. Macayal was followed by Dr. Edmund S. Baehr, psychiatrist at the state bureau of juvenile research, Columbus, who

ALASKA POLICIES CAUSE CONFLICT WITHIN CABINET

Copyright 1923 by International News Service.

ABOARD U. S. S. HENDERSON EN ROUTE TO ALASKA, July 6.—President Harding is Alaska-bound today with a sharp conflict existing within his cabinet over the policies that should be adopted in governing the vast northern territory.

How serious this cabinet division may be, remains to be determined but it prevails and the controversy likely will be the subject of a great many conferences between the president and his cabinet aides who are accompanying him into the far north.

Split On Control. The cabinet split hinges about the control of Alaska. Dr. Hubert Work, secretary of the interior, believes that the whole of territory, equal in area to one fifth of continental United States and with its natural resources yet virtually untouched, should be placed under the administrative control of a single department at Washington—preferably the department of the interior.

Henry C. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, does not agree and there are indications that he will resist strongly any attempts that may be made to take away from his department control of the vast forestry reserves in the territory.

In some respect the controversy is a periculation of the old Ballinger-Pinchot row over forestry conservation.

More recently the question of which department should control the public lands was the subject of dispute between Wallace and Albert S. Fall, who resigned as secretary of the interior last March. Fall's retirement temporarily smoothed over the difficulty, but with the advent of President Harding's Alaska trip, it has again come to the fore in such a way that it may embarrass Mr. Harding in his attempts to reach a solution of the Alaska problem.

Control of Alaska is now vested in 25 separate departments and bureaus in Washington. Secretary Work told International News Service today:

"I don't think there is any question but that this division of authority with its inevitable delay and red tape is responsible for the backwardness of the territory in commercial and agricultural development."

"If I were putting control of Alaska under one department—if not under the interior, then under some other department. The present system is intolerable and cannot continue."

"There must be one central authority over the territory so that when a settler, a miner or a pioneer wants to obtain an opportunity to help develop the territory he can do so expeditiously and without going through 25 different bureaus in Washington."

"My own opinion is that this control should be vested in the interior department. The fact that it is the great holding company so to speak, for government lands."

Conflicting Controls. Secretary Work said he did not so far as did Secretary Fall in desiring to extend his department's control over all forests. He said that the forest of continental United States should be left under control of the agricultural department, but he is in favor of taking away the Alaska reserves. It is his idea to set up a colonial governor in the department who would be the central authority on all administrative matters of the territory from courts to homeostats.

Secretary Wallace declined to be quoted on the Work plan today, but he stated emphatically that he is opposed to relinquishing any of the agricultural departments control over forestry lands.

"The forests have always been under control of the department of agriculture," said Secretary Wallace. "Under this control there has been built up a wise policy of conservation which has saved to the people the great reserves of today against the time of national need."

It is true that control of Alaska is vested in many different departments, but so is control of our other territories. So far that matter does the control of these bureaus extend over the individual states, and yet there is no particular complaint on that score. Alaska is no worse off than the states of the union themselves."

TO EXCOMMUNICATE CATHOLICS FIGHTING ON FOREIGN LANDS

PAPAL ENCYCLICAL LETTER TO BE ISSUED TOMORROW — ENGLAND AND FRANCE NEAR ANOTHER BREAKING POINT ON REPARATIONS ISSUE

LONDON, July 6.—An article published today in the New Leader says Pope Pius XI is planning to issue an encyclical letter threatening excommunication of any Catholic soldier who "bears arms across the frontiers of his own land."

ROME, July 6.—The papal encyclical letter to be issued tomorrow will deal only with purely religious statements, it was stated at the vatican today.

Wants Guarantees. LONDON, July 6.—Premier Baldwin found himself in a quandary today in the reparations tangle.

Preliminary inquiries of Germany, it was reported, indicated that Germany is not willing to make separate negotiations with England on reparations unless England is prepared to guarantee there will be no further occupation of German territory.

England is unable to give such a guarantee and with progress set off in that direction, is awaiting the next move by France.

While there are no signs that France is considering and replying from her extreme attitude, it is confidently expected that Premier Poincare is drawing up a written reply to Lord Curzon's questionaire. It is thought likely that this reply, which is expected soon, will suggest that Baldwin go to Paris to confer with Poincare. With Premier Thomsen of Belgium already reported planning to go to Paris, there is some hope that an agreement may be reached.

The foreign office would not discuss Baldwin's statement in the house of commons last night. The English had offered in January, 1922, to accept the reparations plan of the first of the reparations payment against her costs of occupation.

The remaining sum, the Daily Mail today said, the French was willing to apply to the debt to England.

Belgium Wants Solution. BRUSSELS, July 6.—With negotiations between France and Belgium strained almost to the breaking point, the Belgian cabinet today was at work on plans that may ease the critical situation.

According to the Belgian press, the cabinet is working on a plan that may show the way out of a dangerous impasse that apparently has been reached in the negotiations between Paris and London.

Premier Thomsen, it is understood, plans to go to Paris immediately and confer with Poincare. He is said to be working for a solution that will hasten the settlement of the reparations issue.

Belgium has already presented a tentative plan for a conference between France, England and Belgium with prime ministers and foreign secretaries of the three countries seeking a way around the present obstacles.

FRANK O. LOWDEN SAYS GOVERNMENT POWER IS CENTERING, WASHINGTON

CINCINNATI, July 6.—For the U. S. is entering upon an era of indiscriminate amendment to the federal constitution, was voiced by Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, and republican aspirant to the presidency in the convention that assembled at Covington yesterday.

The franchise with which the constitution was amended and rapid movement toward concentration of power at Washington were declared by Governor Lowden to be among the questions faced by the U. S. today.

"If this tendency goes unchecked, it will not be long before the states are mere puppets in the hands of a few men at the top."

OBSERVATION BALLOON GOES UP IN FLAMES

None of Crew in Basket as Gas Bag Bursts Into Flames at Dayton Field

DAYTON, July 6.—An observation balloon at McCook Field exploded with a bang and went up in flames during a severe electrical storm at 1:30 this afternoon.

Officials at the field said none of the crew was in the basket at the time, however.

A number of persons saw the burst of flame and first reports indicated there had been some casualties. This report was later officially denied.

Static electricity is believed to have caused the explosion, although it was said that lightning might have struck the balloon.

FIFTY THOUSAND BRITISH DOCK HANDS STRIKE

LONDON, July 6.—Striking dock workers continued in a stubborn mood today and there were no indications that they would heed the orders of their leaders to return to work next Monday.

With the threat of a shortage facing many communities, prices are already soaring. Some commodities have advanced a third in price in London, which has food stores on hand sufficient for two weeks.

In other centers where the supplies are not so large the price situation is worse. The waste of perishable food supplies, piled high on the docks is the most serious feature in the situation.

Eighteen thousand men are now out in London and the total strikers in all English ports is estimated to be more than 50,000.

Many stevedores and porters have joined the dock workers and the situation is further complicated by the threat of railway employees not to handle any cargoes unloaded by non-union workers.

Today promised to be the most critical in the strike as thousands of dock workers here who are still at work are scheduled to vote on the question of joining the walk-out.

EDNA MARSH, 7, RAN IN FRONT OF AN AUTO

Edna Marsh, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Marsh, 237 Bath street, was knocked down and injured by an automobile late yesterday afternoon at the corner of Bath street and Lake avenue. The little girl and her mother stepped from a street car, and the child ran in front of a machine driven by Tom Dager, of the Elyria Construction Co. She was knocked down and severely bruised on the shoulder, elbow and hip, and her dress was torn. She was taken to a physician's office where it was ascertained she was not badly injured.

TO DRILL GAS WELL. The contract for drilling a gas well at the county home on Murray ridge, has been let by the county commissioners to Herbert F. Smith, of Howe street. The commissioners hope to strike a good flow of gas at this point as there are a number of producing wells along the ridge. If a plentiful supply is found it will be a great saving, and a convenience that will be appreciated especially in the kitchen and heating room.

CHORUS GIRLS VISIT CITY ON LONG HIKE

Three show girls walking from New York to Los Angeles and accumulating a coat of tan passed through this city yesterday making but a brief pause. They are Verne Sage, formerly with "The Flamingo," and Margaret Sage, sister of Verne, formerly with the revue at Murray's cabaret in New York. They state they are having the time of their lives, and are taking the tramp for the pure pleasure of it.

CRIPPLED WOMAN DIES FROM FALL INJURIES

NEWARK, O., July 6.—Mrs. Mary Porter, a crippled woman aged sixty five, fell when she attempted to get from her wheel chair into bed, the night of July 3, broke both legs and sustained other injuries from which she died here this morning.

MARY SIMMERLY, JR., SLIGHTLY IMPROVED, CONDITION IS GRAVE

The condition of Henry Simmerly, Jr., who was accidentally shot in Cleveland Tuesday afternoon, is reported as being slightly improved. He became partially conscious yesterday and recognized his father and mother. His condition is still very grave and the outcome uncertain.

SINCE THE VERY BEGINNING

All down through those mysterious past centuries that have whizzed by bread has, since the very start of things, been the most substantial and necessary part of man's diet.

Each passing year has left a much improved formula and method for making bread.

The present one, the best—the one we follow—gives us a product that has health-giving properties in every crumb. If you would keep your family healthy and happy serve our bread with every meal.

farmers will not pick them for the price they secure, and that they are demanding nine cents a quart from those who pick them themselves. The first picking of black raspberries, red raspberries, and a plentiful supply of currants are in market. Southern peaches from Georgia are quite plentiful also. The fish market is well supplied and fresh Lake Superior trout can be bought at 25c a pound. White fish is also 25c, and the other prices are unchanged.

LEGION NINE IS RICHWINE'S 9 TRIMMED BY WESTERNS SPLITS BILL AT ASHLAND

Bruce and Cook Both Have Large List of Strike Outs
—Score Was 8 to 4

Loss in Morning 6 to 0,
But Win in Afternoon 6
to 3

The morning game at Cascade park between the Westerns and the Legion was as pretty a contest for seven innings as has been seen for some time. The Legion led all the way up to the fatal eighth and then the unexpected happened and the Westerns broke even. The Westerns were the last man was out. Up to that time Cook pitched splendid ball and his support was first-class. Then the Westerns recovered their eye and base hits and errors helped to put them across as the winners by a score of 9 to 4. Cook had ten strike outs and Bruce had thirteen. A good crowd was in attendance and the contest was well worth seeing.

HIGH ATHLETIC FIELD BEING IMPROVED

The high school Athletic Association have arranged to have the newsway cinder path around the football field properly graded.

During the past year the Association accumulated $1000 and this money will be spent in the way indicated. The grounds have been under-drained during the year and more improvements are planned for the coming season. When completed the field will be one of the best high school athletic fields in the State.

WESTERNS SHUT OUT AT SO. AMHERST

Strengthened Quarry
Town Team Wins by 2 to 0 Score

The Westerns played the South Amherst team at South Amherst in the afternoon and were shut out 2 to 0. Fazy for the Amherst boys and Clapp for the Westerns, both pitched bang up ball but the Amherst hits counted when needed. It was a fast game all the way and abounded in brilliant fielding stunts.

CANDIES FIND CUBS 9 EASY, WIN 15 TO 1

Malick Is Master of Situation While Stewart Is - Hard Hit

Moulton's Candies had no trouble in defeating the East Side Cubs at Cascade park yesterday afternoon in a one-sided game. The Cubs could not connect with Malick's slants when his meat runs and lost out 15 to 1. Stewart was not as effective as he was against the Eagles last Sunday, allowing 11 hits.

Jacobs got on base for the Candies four times and counted four runs. Stewart for the Cubs made two hits and the only run. Oswald, Root and Massey also made hits for the Cubs. Mallick, Swann and Kershaw were the heavy hitters for the Candies getting two hits each.

Tagging The Bases

Jess Barnes pitched one of his good games and the result, the Dodgers were whitewashed by the Braves.

Spotting the White Sox a three run lead, the Browns came from behind and won 4 to 3.

Home runs abounded galore in the Cardinals-Phillies game. St. Louis annexing three, two by Hornsby and the Phillies two. The Cardinals won the free hitting contest, 16-12.

NEW YORK CENTRAL RAILROAD'S INCREASED DIVIDEND

The increase of the dividend of the New York Central Railroad from 5% to 7% is a good omen in two ways. It indicates in the first place that some of the railroads are beginning to improve their financial condition. But the more important factor in the situation is the resolve to change the whole matter of financing railroad improvement and extension.

The use of bonds for securing new capital is not a wise financial policy. Bonds must be paid when they become due, and at times they come due when money rates are excessively high. About 60% of the capital structure of American railroads today consists of bonded indebtedness. The New York Central's bonded indebtedness is 70% of its entire financial structure. This is not a healthy condition. And the increase of dividend is in the line of financial reform.

An adequate and a steady return of dividends alone invites the investment of new capital. And it is new capital that any public utility needs for its inevitable expansion. The American Telephone Company increased its dividends to 9% a year ago just for the purpose of drawing new capital, and it has succeeded. New stock in that company is now selling at about 120. The New York Central stock did not respond on the market to the increased dividend immediately, but as the company's financial position continues to justify itself, there is little question but that it can obtain all the new capital which it actually needs without piling up the bonded indebtedness.

GREAT THINGS EXPECTED

After the books are balanced in Shelby, Montana, (a little larger than Grafton) we find that it has cost the inhabitants of that little berg about thirty dollars a head, provided the amount was divided equally, for the advertising which the town received for the brief period prior to July fourth. Wasn't it worth it? We had never heard of the town before. We were surprised and delighted to know that it existed. It will be a sweet memory of the future, not particularly because of what they did, but of the results of what they did. It will point a lesson, it will adorn a tale.

But from an advertiser's standpoint, they had top page, and the first page at that, next to pure reading matter in every paper in the country. If they could only capitalize on it now. Well, they can. Every fakir in the country will start for Shelby for he will know there he is certain to find some easy marks. He may not go at once, because he realizes there is nothing left there. But he will wait a while. They will come back and we doubt if a group who are as foolish as that can learn simply by one experience.

It may be that Dempsey out of gratitude to the village will build a college. They need it.

WILL FORDS' CANDIDACY HELP?

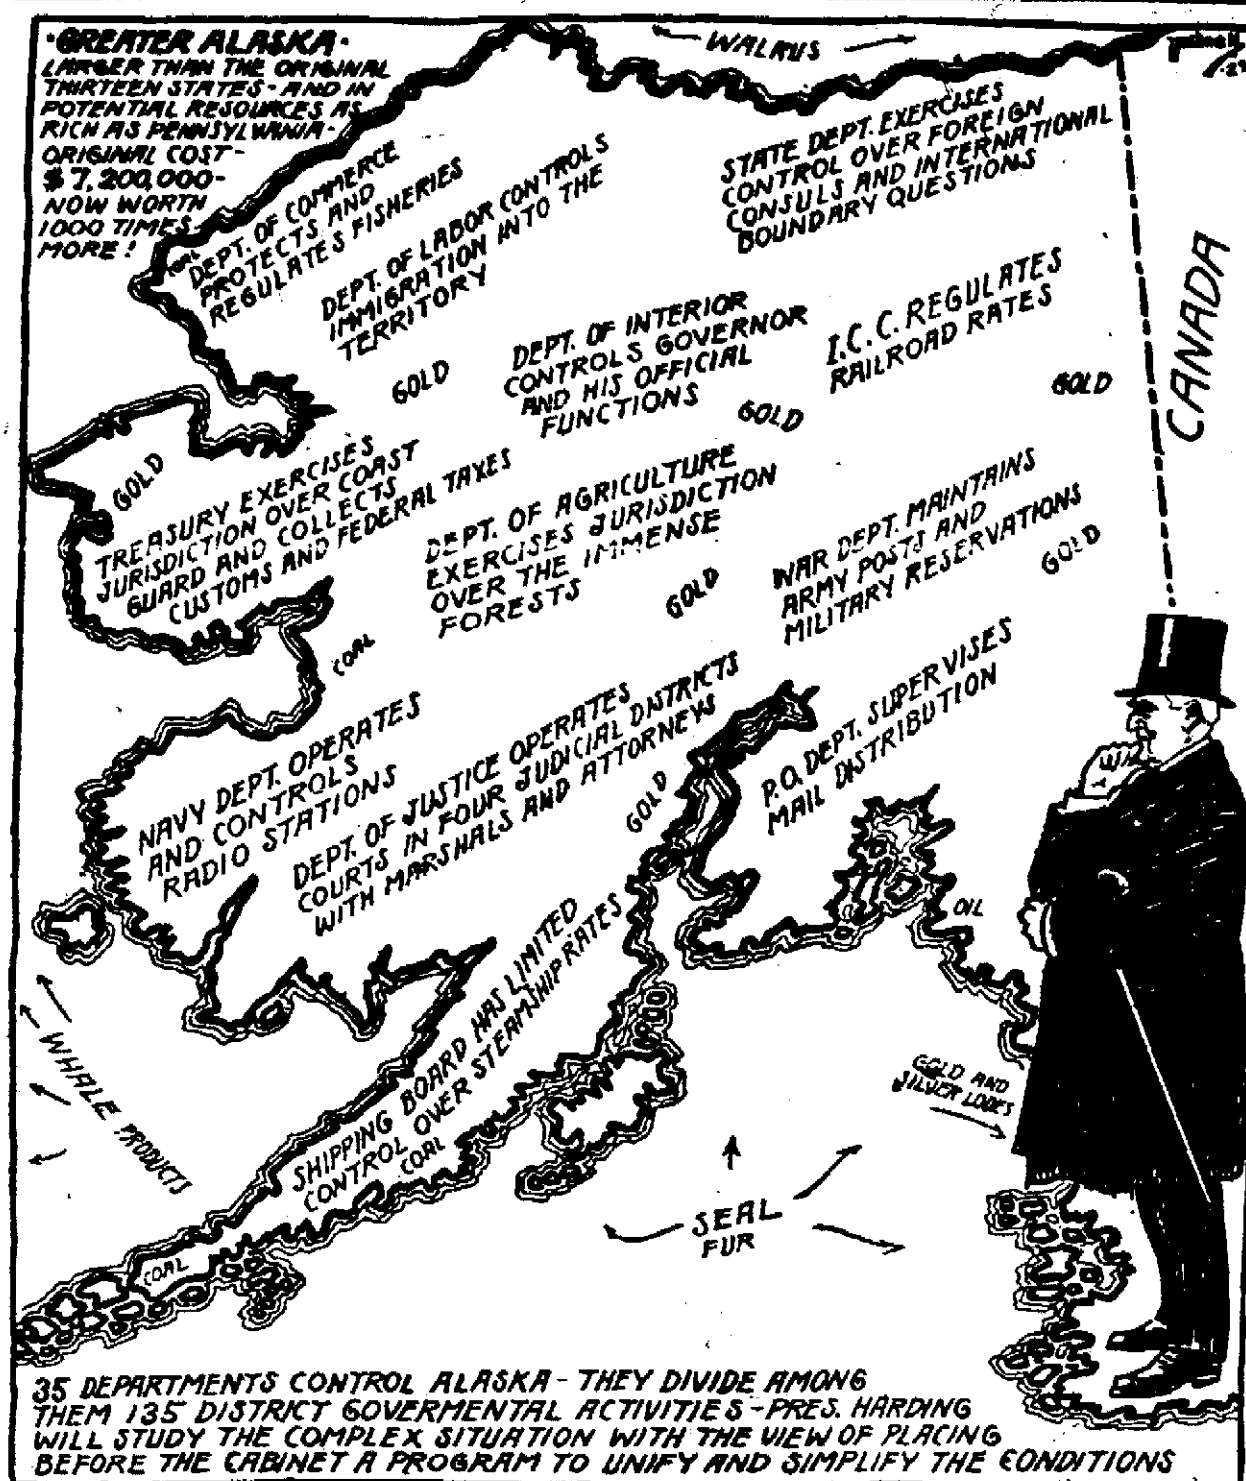

Some of the Democrats declare that the candidacy of Henry Ford on a third party ticket will increase the chances of the Democratic party to win the election in 1924. If they are really honest in this opinion and if at the same time are intelligent, we have a pretty clear idea as to their opinion of the chances which the Democratic party has in 1924. Because if Henry Ford running on an independent ticket would increase their chances, using the same logic, the elimination of the party entirely would insure them of the election.

Now comes Marconi and declares he has hit upon a device whereby a message can be directed through the air and be accurately received and heard only by the person to whom it is directed. They make "Little Liza Jane" sound like "Old Black Joe" and she never did any harm to anybody.

Just about the time the dinner is ready, some nut suggests "Old Kentucky Home." I don't mind standing when they start "The Star Spangled Banner" but when they jump into "Georgia" I'm half way home.

I don't know maybe I'm jealous because I can't sing, but I'm not jealous of the community singers.

There's no law against community singing. That's why I claim the legislators have been derelict in their duty.

IN THE DAY'S NEWS

RUSSELL CORNELL LEFFINGWELL

A task that will require unusual financial ability and will demand many years with increasing responsibility to consummate is to be turned over to Russell Cornell Leffingwell by J. P. Morgan and Co., according to reports from Wall street.

Leffingwell, a former assistant secretary of the U. S. treasury, and a well known New York lawyer has just been made a partner in the Morgan firm and it is considered probable that he will be given charge of the British payments on the war debt, the task referred to. The payments are being made in the form of Liberty bonds through the J. P. Morgan and Co., as fiscal agents for the British government. His headquarters will be in Washington.

Leffingwell is a member of the New York firm of Cravath, Henderson, Leffingwell and De Gerstoeff. He resigned from the Treasury in April, 1920, having been directly in charge of Liberty Loan flotation during the war and having served under three Secretaries. President Wilson received the resignation with public expression of regret and praise.

TIMELY VIEWS ON WORLD TOPICS

"MOVIES EXCEL BOOKS FOR EDUCATING CHILDREN," SAYS EDISON

There is nothing so powerful as motion pictures in influencing people," said Thomas Edison, world famous inventor, recently. "They are the most powerful means of influencing people at the present time and will increase in power from year to year. Whoever controls the motion picture industry controls the most powerful medium of influence over the people."

"I think motion pictures have just started. It is my opinion that in twenty years children will be taught through pictures and not through books."

Edison said that he regarded moving pictures as 100 per cent perfect for teaching. They could influence people mightily for good or bad, in the moral sense. They were the best means for the dissemination of knowledge, especially among children. He said he believed that children were more susceptible to education through the screen than persons over twenty years of age—more susceptible to good and bad influences alike.

"I have made numbers of investigations along the line of teaching children by other methods than books," Edison stated. "I made an experiment with a lot of pictures to teach children chemistry. I got twelve children to write down what they had learned from the pictures they had seen. It was amazing to me that such a complicated subject as chemistry was readily grasped by them to a large extent through pictures. The parts of the pictures that they did not understand I did over and over again, until they finally understood the entire pictures."

"THE THEATERS SHOULD BE MUNICIPALLY OWNED," SAYS DRAMATIST

"The theater should be made just as much a part of municipal government as libraries, hospitals, clean streets and clean water," says Henry Arthur Jones, noted English dramatist. "It is the next big step. The theater should create those equal necessities of decent human life, the things that refresh our minds and spirits. The drama is a question of the greatest social importance and significance, as it concerns the amusement of the masses, the way in which they spend their evening hours of leisure—the only hours in which nine-tenths of our population can be said to live at all. I do not think our present system of long runs for one star in one play tends to make real actors. To play one production 300 or 400 times makes them automatons, and their work mechanical."

John Nagel's widowed mother and sisters, knowing him as no one else, loved and appreciated him. Already overwhelmed with grief, ingwell appealed for cancellation of the Allied debts to America on the ground that "human sympathy decent shame and enlightened self interest call upon us to take our part." He virtually endorsed a New York paper's stand for international disarmament, appealing for a world free from military bondage.

Leffingwell was born in New York in 1879, the son of Charles Russell and Mary Elizabeth Cornell Leffingwell. He was graduated from Yale in 1899 and from the Columbia Law School in 1902. Entering what was then the law firm of Cravath & Henderson immediately after graduation he became a partner in 1907.

In 1917, a few weeks after war was declared, Leffingwell went to Washington and organized the vast machinery by means of which the Treasury Department was able to raise billions of dollars.

Leffingwell is a member of the Century University, Metropolitan, Yale, Down Town, Columbia University and Piping Rock Clubs of New York, and the Metropolitan, Chevy Chase, Riding and Hunt Clubs of Washington. He married Lucy Hewitt of Brooklyn in 1906.

POEMS THAT LIVE

THE STREAM OF LIFE
 O steamer descending to the sea,
 Thy mossy banks between,
 The flowerets blow, the grasses grow,
 The leafy trees are green.

In garden plots the children play,
 The fields the labourers till,
 And houses stand on either hand,
 And thou descendest still.

O life descending into death,
 Our waking eyes behold,
 Parent and friend thy lapse attend,
 Companions young and old.

Strong purposes our minds possess,
 Our hearts affections fill,
 We toil and earn, we seek and learn,
 And thou descendest still.

O end to which our currents tend,
 Inevitable sea,
 To which we flow, what do we know,
 What shall we guess of thee?

A roar we hear upon thy shore,
 As we our course fulfill;
 Scarce we divine a sun will shine
 And be above us still.

—Arthur Hugh Clough.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Is Our Gratitude Forgotten.

Dear Sir:
 At the recent funeral of John Nagel of East Avon, who met his tragic death on a tractor last Friday I was privileged to note how quickly appreciation of our world war veterans has disappeared. Not one word was said of his offer of the supreme sacrifice for his country for the speaker, for us. He refused to apply for exemption from the draft even though he was the only son and on a farm with his somewhat disabled father, saying, "If I don't go someone else will have to." John Nagel was a man of character—what he said could be relied upon. He was absolutely honest and when he was away his mother knew where he was. And then at the funeral, "Perhaps he was a kind son. No doubt he was a good brother." The crowd of all the local denominations that swelled the church was attestation of the esteem in which he was held. But if a hero is too modest to parade his valor, dare we belittle the service he has rendered us?

When a man doesn't meet his financial obligations he soon earns the epithet of "dead-beat." When he doesn't play to the rules he is a "swindler." For the sake of business both are frowned upon. But what if I like to know, would we name a man who would refuse to recognize his obligations which can never be repaid; who would attempt to deprive the worthy dead of the most priceless thing they can leave behind, honor and respect? For the sake of patriotism and real civilization we must not permit it.

When a man plays absolutely square through life and then offers the greatest sacrifice for his country and fellowman any man can make should he not be treated as the best? If there were any God who would not do so would any man who is a man think of him

RAO, July 6.—Having bolted from the conference which they had with a view to forming a party, delegates of the farmer-labor party began a convention of their own here today.

The delegates from the workers' party of America, under William Foster, well known radical, were absent, having remained with the newly organized farmer-labor party, which developed radical tendencies which alienated the farmer labor conservatives.

Thomas Bennett, of New York, temporary chairman of the new convention, announced that delegates representing farmers or labor would be seated, but that the convention would bar anyone owning allegiance to the Third International of Russia or its principles, or who advocated the overthrow of government by force or other than legal measures.

The bolt of the farmer-labor delegates marked the breaking up of the alliance of Foster and John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago federation of labor, who were associated in the steel strike a few years ago. Fitzpatrick, with C. C. Platt, and Jay Brown of Chicago, joined Bennett in fighting the passage of a resolution calling for recognition of soviet Russia and another to "drive militarism from the schools."

When the resolutions were passed, any how, the farmer labor delegates withdrew, charging that the radicals had captured the convention through the votes of communists, surreptitiously chosen by cabals within trade union organizations.

They refused to name a member of the executive committee of the federated farmer labor party and called separate convention, through which they hope to further plans for a third party.

As the session wore on without transacting any business the number of delegates dwindled, many announcing that pressing business at home would prevent their remaining.

After a spirited fight, it was decided to open the meeting today to newspapermen and Robert Buck of Chicago was elected permanent chairman.

Meanwhile efforts to find where the radicals were meeting, if at all, was unsuccessful. The hall where they had gathered was locked and the farmer-labor delegates professed ignorance of the whereabouts of the Foster adherents.

IRENE CASTLE
LOVE IS BOTH
'HOT AND COLD'

PARIS, July 6.—Robert Treman, husband of Irene Castle, arrived back in Paris today and arranged passage to the United States on the Majestic, sailing July 25.

Then he arranged to hurry back to Deauville where he had left Mrs. Treman alone for the first time since their "second honeymoon" began yesterday.

"Will Mrs. Treman accompany you to America?" Treman was asked.

"You will have to ask my lawyer," Treman replied.

The attorney who was present, evaded the question.

PARIS, July 6.—"Irene Castle blows hot and cold for a husband who loves her wildly," a close friend of Captain Robert Treman, Ithaca, N. Y., millionaire, told International News Service today.

"He is willing to follow her around the world," the friend said. "He did follow her to Europe in an attempt to prevent the divorce action that was filed in the Seine tribunal."

"The trouble is," the friend of the husband said, "that Irene does not know her own mind."

"At times," the friend continues, "she is the most affectionate, and shows her fondness for Robert. But some times she is coldly indifferent and takes the very slightest of him."

"She changes suddenly a summer love for winter-like indifference."

Several times in New York, Mrs. Treman was at the very point of suing for a divorce, according to some of her intimates.

But she changed her mind each time, and finally left for Europe without filing an action.

Captain Treman followed—with a lawyer. His wife was stopping at the Princess, so he went to the Claridge and prepared for eventualities. He even engaged a firm of French lawyers as his American attorney could not appear before the French bar.

Then he threw over his course of passive resistance and began to woo his wife over again. In the face of the filing of her suit he continued his suit and on the day the news leaked out that Irene had begun divorce proceedings she went to dinner with her husband, announced that the filing of the suit was unauthorized and told of plans to accompany her husband to Deauville the following day.

The trip to Deauville, which Treman's friends say he regards as his second honeymoon, was made yesterday in an automobile.

MODEL OF HINDENBURG LINE IS ON EXHIBIT ON EAST BROAD ST.

Local veterans of the late World War are much interested in a model of the famous Hindenburg line, which is on exhibit in the old Carl Drake store room on Broad street. The exhibit is being shown under the auspices of the American Legion, and is in charge of Cap. C. W. Beerwith, formerly of the 30th division, now connected with the department of education of the state of Tennessee.

Capt. Beerwith worked four months on this model, which will later be a permanent exhibit in the $2,000,000 memorial structure planned by Tennessee. In addition to this model there are a large number of pictures of the ground passed over by the 37th division, and of other sections of the war swept land, together with a fine exhibit of war relics that are worth seeing. The admission to this worth while exhibit is free.

MURDERED MAN WHO DECEIVED

NEW YORK, July 6.—A charge of murder was filed today against Mrs. Louis Arnold, 46, mother of five children, who confessed to having stabbed to death Vincent Clavacca, father of nine children, after she learned that he was a married man and had deceived her.

At her arraignment Mrs. Arnold admitted killing her lover.

"I did not know he was married," she said. "He told me he would marry me. I believed him for seven years. Then I discovered he had a wife and nine children of his own. He told me had other wives in other towns, too."

Mrs. Arnold said she visited the children's court building where Clavacca worked.

"I stabbed him with a knife I carried in a paper sack," Mrs. Arnold told police. "After that I locked up the building and went home."

"Neighbors laughed at me—they knew my lover was a married man and I didn't. I just couldn't stand their laughs."

The large frame structure was well on fire before the blaze was discovered, and the distance of the fire department from the park allowed it to reach a point where it was impossible to save the structure.

There was a dance there last night, which closed about midnight, and it is believed that a cigarette was thrown into rubbish in or near the building and after smoldering for some time the building took fire.

The property belonged to the city, and the loss is estimated at $12,000 with $6000 insurance.
